

Train On Time

New Empire

Found yourself lost at the station running away
From the ones that had found you,
As you longed for change
I don't know where you are
Suitcase in your hands
But do you understand
(So I'll tell you)

When your heart says runaway, runaway
And your head says go 'cause they're coming after you
Like a train on time, I can bring you back

To the place where he found you,
Lost and secure in those things that were fleeting,
As you packed for two
With that black dress and those white shoes (woah oh oh)
You just have to know, that I can't let you go
(So I'll tell you)

When your heart says runaway, runaway
And your head says go 'cause they're coming after you
Like a train on time, I can bring you back
When your heart says stay away, stay away
And your head won't show when you really have to choose
There's a train on time, I can bring you

Lost yourself for a little while
If I ask you to stay, will you ask me to leave?

When your heart says runaway, runaway
And your head says go 'cause they're coming after you
Like a train on time, I can bring you

When your heart says runaway, runaway
And your head says go 'cause they're coming after you
It could take some time
But I can bring you back, yeah
Love can bring you back, yeah
