

Map of Your Body

New Found Glory

Things are looking up, now the stars all are aligned
I prefer apologies on greeting card with underlines
Finally looking up, finally keeping you in mind
You can take advantage of me thinking out of time

And oh I know you'll never find a way out without me

Stuck here in your repeating lies
It's okay to patch it up here and there with tearing eyes
Keep it up, you will never realize
All the friends you are losing right up in time

And oh I know you'll never find a way out without me
Oh I know you'll never find a way out

There's a map of your body hanging over my head
It's a curse not having you to hold again
By the time I've figured this all out you let me go, oh

Now our time is up, now we're exchanging goodbyes
It was better before, before with that meaningless kiss
Breaking up, hiding all the evidence
I know it's a fact you found more than you ever did

And oh I know you'll never find a way out without me
Oh I know you'll never find a way out

There's a map of your body hanging over my head
It's a curse not having you to hold again
By the time I've figured this all out you let me go, oh
There's a map of your body hanging over my head
It's a curse not having you to hold again
By the time I've figured this all out you let me go, oh

I remember like it was yesterday
When it was you and me against the world, woah
I remember like it was yesterday
When it was you and me against the world

And oh I know you'll never find a way out
Oh I know you'll never find a way out without you

There's a map of your body hanging over my head
It's a curse not having you to hold again
By the time I've figured this all out you let me go, oh
There's a map of your body hanging over my head
It's a curse not having you to hold again
By the time I've figured this all out you let me go, oh

Oh oh oh oh oh