

Vacation Day

New Found Glory

I don't need to escape or fly to an island far away
I wanna stay at home, bath water's fine
Beachsand's too frustrating anyway
I'd rather wash the stresses off your back
And lay on our backs

And never leave again
For anywhere or anything

You're my vacation day, my little getaway
Where I can shutdown and put my insecurities behind me
You're my vacation day, my little getaway
When you're lying here beside me
Please don't make me go

I have no interest to travel to a little bungalow in a foreign town
I see the post cards still a beautiful view
But not like you, in the morning when the sun comes in our bedrooms
Through the cracks

And never leave again
For anywhere or anything

You're my vacation day, my little getaway
Where I can shutdown and put my insecurities behind me
You're my vacation day, my little getaway
When you're lying here beside me
When you're lying here beside me
Please don't make me go

It just seems a distraction
Just prolonging real connection
From what matters most
You and I evolving
Melting into one just talking
Bout what matters most

And never leave again
And never leave again
For anywhere or anything

You're my vacation day, my little getaway
Where I can shutdown and put my insecurities behind me
You're my vacation day, my little getaway
When you're lying here beside me
When you're lying here beside me
When you're lying here beside me
Please don't make me go
