

All She Needs

Newton Faulkner

She needs to find a place to hide
As the weight, as the weight of the world pulls down
She's running out of hope cause she knows
That the worst, oh the worst is yet to come
There's no sense trying to hold your head up now, you know

All she needs is a little
All she needs is a little love
She knows damn well when she said it
All she needs is a little shove
All she needs is a little
All she needs is a little love

She's trying to find a safe for life
As the rain, the rain keeps pouring down
She's trying hard to make a sound
But her heart, her heart is crying out
There's no sense trying to hold your head up now, you know

All she needs is a little
All she needs is a little love
She knows damn well when she said it
All she needs is a little shove
All she needs is a little
All she needs is a little love

See the light in the distance
Every time that she figures it out
Never gonna give it up
Never gonna give it up
Then it all comes down, down

All she needs is a little
All she needs is a little love
She knows damn well when she said it
All she needs is a little shove
All she needs is a little
All she needs is a little love

All she needs is a little
All she needs is a little love
She knows damn well when she said it
All she needs is a little shove
All she needs is a little
All she needs is a little love
