

Break

Newton Faulkner

Is it easier to hold on strong,
when weakness has its place?
I don't want to be the one to break
Oh I don't know what I'm searching for
Can't find it in your face
I don't want to be the one to break

And I find it hard to fake
And it's getting harder and harder for me to take
Living in your space

Oh I don't know why it's so damn hard
Love to find its place
I don't want to be the one to break

Why the hell did I come on so strong
But the truth that I did face
I don't want to be the one to break

And I find it hard to fake
And it's getting harder and harder for me to take
Guess I just lost faith
Don't want to pack my things and move to an empty place
Living in your space

Is it easier to hold on strong,
when weakness has its place?
I don't want to be the one to break
Oh I don't know what I'm searching for
Can't find it in your face
I don't want to be the one to break

And I find it hard to take
And it's getting harder and harder for me to fake
Guess I just lost faith
Don't want to pack my things and move to an empty place
Living in your space
Loving in your space
Living in your space