

Savannah

Nick Santino

I've been around this town
I've seen everything there's to see
So I wouldn't think twice about leaving behind
The one that forgot about me
I'd wake to start a new day
With the sun creeping in through the blinds
When that sun would set, I'd lay down my head
And wake to another sunrise

Oh, Savannah, why'd you push me away?
I had answers that I needed to say
I was waiting to feel your embrace
Oh, Savannah, why'd you push me away?

I stepped out of my house this morning
I started my car in the drive
And I went for a ride, never felt so alive
For a moment I forgot about time

The leaves have already been changing
And the winter is over, it seems
So I'll leave you with this, a hug and a kiss
Oh, Savannah, don't forget about me
