

I wish that when you walked in, I could hide it
I wish that when we touched, there wasn't lightnin'
You say you wish our hearts had better timin'
But somethin' always keeps us from collidin'

'Cause one of us is always holdin' somebody else
While one of us is hoping that nobody could tell
And the both of us are gettin' good at foolin' ourselves
Waitin' on the other one to figure it out
So how long (How long) before (Before) the stars will all align
?
Or am I (Am I) just chasing (Chasing) your love?
Like it's just over the next horizon
(Just over the next)

I know you like the way you keep me captive
So what's it gonna take to make this happen? (To make this happen)
I lost my chance when you met him
I went through Hell and back again
But thank God there's no way to kick this habit

'Cause one of us is always holdin' somebody else
While one of us is hoping that nobody could tell
And the both of us are gettin' good at foolin' ourselves
Waitin' on the other one to figure it out
So how long (How long) before (Before) the stars will all align
?
Or am I (Am I) just chasing (Chasing) your love?
Like it's just over the next horizon
Like it's just over the next horizon
Just over the next horizon

Can we close the distance between
Where we are and where we could be?
Never really as far as it seems
When it seems just like

One of us is always holdin' somebody else
While one of us is hopin' that nobody could tell
And the both of us are gettin' good at foolin' ourselves
Waitin' on the other one to figure it out
So how long (How long) before (Before) the stars will all align
?
Or am I (Am I) just chasing (Chasing) your love?
Like it's just over the next horizon
Like it's just over the next horizon
Just over the next horizon