

Falsifying Life

Nightrage

Fragile structures of empty human values
The red tape the only thing that binds

When our failure writes our story
Our only option is to follow the blind

In the absence of a better future
We are loosing what is left of our minds

So we swallow the lies
We falsify what once was life
Since birth we stumble
Don't open your eyes

A pointless struggle to fight the decay
Total obliteration of morality

When all but reason dictates our story
We know we reached the end of the road

While facing our final judgement
There is no way to wash our hands of the blood

So we swallow the lies
We falsify what once was life
Since birth we stumble
Don't open your eyes

So we swallow the lies
We falsify what once was life
Since birth we stumble
Cant you hear our cries

With twisted truths
We falsify what once was life
Our kingdom crumbles
Don't open your eyes