

This Broken Man

Nik Kershaw

I have always tried to paint someone else's picture of me
But I never fit the frame, never fit the frame
So I hid inside myself, fooling everyone around me
And I never had a name, never had a name
Now I know
I don't have to be someone
I'm not

And I know

You take me as you find me
Want me for who I am
And I thank the stars above
That someone loves this broken man

I have always been the star
In someone else's movie
But I never knew the lines
Never knew the lines

Now I know

I don't have to play that part

And I know

I can play it by heart

Take me as you find me
Want me for who I am
And I thank the stars above
That someone loves this broken man
Your faith in me
Has set me free

Now I believe in me
Take me as you find me
Want me for who i am
And I thank the stars above
That someone loves, you can love, I can love this broken man
