The Background World

Nine Inch Nails

You left me here what am I supposed to do? I never dared to loo k inside just like you told me to I'm going into you again and I know you saw it too I'm going to keep myself awake I know wha t's coming I feel it reaching through there is no moving past t here is no better place there is no future point in time we wil l not get away the world is bleeding out it folds itself in two behind the background world is always bleeding through Are you sure this is what you want?
As hard as you try not to see it