

You need this
I'm telling you but you don't know
I feel it
I feel it in my blood and bones
You love me
You love me but you just don't know

'Cause I've been giving myself some time
To recover from all these lies
And I will still be willing to decide
For a life together with you

'Cause I've been wondering how we, how we Could survive all these, despite all the noise
The delusion of social just inside my head
'Cause how we've been flowing, nobody knows
But we smile all day long
If I tell you that I'll be there before
And the one's who are weary are one's closest together
Say, the world turning around and round, and we've gotta
Save somebody by the hand and show them some mood, yeah

'Cause I've been giving myself some time
To recover from all these lies
Yeah, and I will still be willing to decide
For a life together with you
'Cause I've been giving myself some time
To recover from all these lies
And I will still be willing to decide
For a life together with you

I still love you
I still love you
I still love you
I still love you
