Everything

No Rome

Sun hits when the mood's right
We can do everything if we try, my friend
Everything fits the mood fine
I could feel you from miles and miles away

I'm trying to get away, where do I go?
Anywhere, doesn't matter, I never know
I'm trying to get away, I'm tryna go home
Where do we go, where do we go?

Every corner in the room, everything that matters
Everything's forever, I believe in ever afters
Lying on the floor, I can hear you when you chatter
Take another tab and I can feel it getting faster
Going all around, I could feel myself coming down
I could fall in love with anybody who would come around
And I've fallen for you

Sun hits when the mood's right
We can do everything if we try, my friend
Everything fits the mood fine
I could feel you miles and miles away
