

Are you saying something
I seem to find a wall
Are you there at all, hey...
Am I getting somewhere
Trying to find a way
Waiting on the day, yeah
I see you, I need you
I believe in you, I see your soul

God, it takes so long
To get to where I'm going
But I know I'll be there
God, it takes so long
To find a place I can call my own

As I'm getting older
I hear a silent call
I wonder of it all, yeah
And if we all believe
Together we will find
What echoes in our mind
I hear you, I feel your love
I believe in you, I see your soul

God, it takes so long
To get to where I'm going
But I know I'll be there
God, it takes so long
To find a place I can call my own
God, it takes so long
To find a place I can call my home

God, it takes so long
To get to where I'm going
But I know I'll be there
God, it takes so long
To find a place I can call my own
God, it takes so long
To find a place I can call home
Home

My home
