

Miss Me Too

Nolan Taylor

Take a deep breath
Try not to worry much
I'm doing everything I can so I can see you soon
I know it's been long
It hurts me too, ya know
But I'll be back Sunday afternoon

Cause I miss you and I know you miss me too
It hurts me knowing that when I'm gone
You have no clue
You don't know that I'm out here working for you
Talking about you helps make things normal
The life of someone who's always on the road
Your love's the only thing that I miss more
More than holding you in my arms

Oh you're so genuine and pretty
You're the only one who gets me
It's been that way since the day
That we brought you home
I hope we've changed you like you've changed us
When were gone you know we miss when
You curl right up and fall asleep
In between a wink

Because I miss you and I know you miss me too
It hurts me knowing that when I'm gone
You have no clue
You don't know that I'm out here working for you
Talking about you helps make things normal
The life of someone who's always on the road
Your love's the only thing that I've missed more
More than holding you in my arms

More than holding you in my arms
