Nomy

We gotta live a little longer
But it's hard to smell the roses while you run
It's hard to live when you are getting older
But it's easier to die when you are young

This where I go and this is where I leave
I'm standing at the end of everything that you achieved
I leave it all behind, and all that you have done

But it's the pain, pain, that I will leave behind
The guilty, they will suffer but the rest of us can die
The pain, pain, that I will give to you
The guilty they would shiver if they knew what I could do

They say that we can talk it over
And they say that we could try to overcome
But we can stand here getting older
But no words can save me now from what you've done

But it's the pain, pain, that I will leave behind
The guilty, they will suffer but the rest of us can die
The pain, pain, that I will give to you
The guilty they would shiver if they knew what I could do

But it's the pain, pain, that I will leave behind
The guilty, they will suffer but the rest of us can die
The pain, pain, that I will give to you
The guilty they would shiver if they knew what I could do

This where I go and this is where I leave
I'm standing at the end of everything that you achieved
I leave it all behind, and all that you have done
But this is where I go, this is where you stay
I'm standing at the end of everything that you achieved
I leave it all behind, and all that you have done

But it's the pain, pain, that I will leave behind
The guilty, they will suffer but the rest of us can die
The pain, pain, that I will give to you
The guilty they would shiver if they knew what I could do
