

Crashing

Nonpoint

Get it out, you started going in already
Say what you wanna really wanna say already
I'll relax when you relax
This is long gone off the rails
Off the scales already

Don't need to put on a show anymore
Don't need to know what you think anymore
Won't ever make that mistake anymore

'Cause now, I know that this is what it tastes like
But was it worth the days
I created that will follow
And why this is so hard to swallow?

There's nothing more left to tell me
Nothing more left to serve
Nothing more left to scare me!
Nothing more left to learn
Nothing, but bad reactions
Nothing, but counteractions
Let's end this interaction, see...

Don't need to put on a show anymore
Don't need to know what you think anymore
Won't ever make that mistake anymore

'Cause now, I know that this is what it tastes like
But was it worth the days
I created that will follow
And why this is so hard to swallow?

Swallowing
Swallowing

What makes you the judge and jury?
What makes this come all so easy?
Am I doing wrong?
What am I doing wrong
That has me crashing? (Crashing down)

'Cause now, I know that this is what it tastes like
But was it worth the days
I created that will follow
And why this is so hard to swallow?

Swallowing