Me and you,

A E A

In my little room

There's room enough for us to do

A

The things we like to do.

It's by the bed next to my head

But I don't even care

There's stars up on the wall

And they all glow in the dark

And we can hear the children playing

Outside in the park

There's bars on the window

And if there were a fire

We'd burn up for sure

But that's just fine by me 'cause

We would be together ever more

In this little room

In the big city we're so far

From the people that we knew in

My big ol' blue car

But if we stick together

Then I know we'll be ok

'cause when it gets too cold outside

This room is where we'll stay
