Take It Back

Norah Jones

Won't you take me away from here So I'll never find my way home Well there's one missing part of me And I'm afraid it's fine on its own And this time it's finally grown For me to see Now I see

Words spoken silently I could never understand How breath delivers such poison To someone too weak to stand And dust can turn into mud Out on the sea In the sea

Take it back, take it back Take it back

Take it back, take it back Take it back

Take it back, take it back Take it back

Take it back, take it back Take it back
