

Fair

Normani

Two-hundred days and counting I know
You're my favorite still
When I say I won't tell myself I don't but I always will Feel the way I feel
You have time to heal, I got time to kill

Play in my mind like I rehearsed it
I know I should re-purpose
Ain't no faking hurt like this nah
You carry her and all I carry are burdens
Time for me ain't working
I know heartbreak ain't perfect but

Is it fair that you moved on
'Cause I swear that I haven't
Is it right that you've grown
And I'm still stuck in habits
'Cause I'm finding it strange
That you're better than average
Hearts didn't break down the middle
Tell me how did that happen

Ooh, ooh
Ooh
Yeah
Ooh, ooh
Ooh

Maybe
If we could trade places
So you'd feel betrayed and
And I can feel shameless
I carry all of the weight
And you get all of the gains
I can't take all the ways that she may touch you

'Cause it plays in my mind like I rehearsed it
I know I should re-purpose
Ain't no faking hurt like this nah
You carry her and all I carry are burdens
Time for me ain't working
I know heartbreak ain't perfect but

Is it fair that you moved on
'Cause I swear that I haven't
Is it right that you've grown
And I'm still stuck in habits
'Cause I'm finding it strange
That you're better than average
Hearts didn't break down the middle
Tell me how did that happen

Ooh, ooh
Ooh
Yeah
Ooh, ooh
Ooh
