

Afterthought

Nosound

A break in the pain
A cold blurred sight
The way back home
In the quiet night

I tried to forget
To sleep keeping warm
Taking my steps
Into the unknown

I went with the flow
Forgetting your voice
In the blindness and folly
Of a faint fickle joy