Afterthought

Nosound

A break in the pain A cold blurred sight The way back home In the quiet night

I tried to forget
To sleep keeping warm
Taking my steps
Into the unknown

I went with the flow Forgetting your voice In the blindness and folly Of a faint fickle joy