

| HEART |

Nothing More

And you're going on a journey
We are all floating in a tremendous river
Some of the people in the river are swimming against it
Others have learned that the art of the thing is to swim with it
The people who are swimming against it think they're going in the opposite direction
But they're still being carried along
But you, you have to flow with the river, and swim with it
There's no other way
But if, on the other hand, you trust yourself to the water and let go
You will float
And this is exactly the situation of faith

And the river carries you along

And you're going on a journey
But a person who is not making that pretense anymore
Who knows that you have to go with the river and swim with it
Suddenly, he acquires the power of the river

The power of the river
The person swimming with it, he goes along and he has that whole river behind him
And the river carries you along

But the man who puts up a sail is using magic
He lets nature do it for him
The power of the river