

All For Nothing

Novelists

I'd be dreaming of it all
A great design
Love is fleeting
It's dawning on me that hope is blinding
It's like my world is going mad
While I'm running out of air
Love is fleeting
It's dawning on me
(That there might be no turning back from here)

Tell me my heart is still beating
Oh can't you hear me screaming?

The bruises, the suffering
Oh was it all for nothing?
I lived through the pain in vain
Now let me come undone, again

Despite the fractures and the cuts we kept running
Craving the light but stars just kept falling
Would we repeat the story?
Now it's too late and you just keep regretting

I'd believe it and take it all
The great design
Life is fleeting
It's dawning on me that hope is blinding
I was just dying to catch my breath
To numb the fear within my chest
Life is fleeting
It's dawning on me
(The sun will never rise again)

The bruises, the suffering
Oh was it all for nothing?
I lived through the pain in vain
Now let me come undone, again

The bruises, the suffering
Oh was it all for nothing?
I lived through the pain in vain
Now let me come undone, again

Tell me my heart is still beating
Oh can't you hear me screaming
Tell me my heart is still beating
Oh can't you hear me screaming
