Lost Cause

Novelists

Was it all just a dream or
Was it just the price to pay?
Now I'm left here to pray in silence
And You got what you wanted

I search for meaning
When all I used to do was dreaming
Disconsolate, mourning a loss
Lonesome at best
Run away
But I can never escape
From the pain in my brain
This fucking misery

I need a reason for who we are
I need to breath, throughout the war
I lost faith in myself again

I lost faith in myself again

Just breath in
Just breath in
And bury me
And bury me
Just pretend
Just pretend
And run away
And run away

I'm slowly shutting down and
I can't deny, that all I do is losing control
You know I can't keep going on, this shit is taking its toll
But I can never escape
But I can never escape

But I can never escape

System failure

I need a reason for who we are
I need to breath, throughout the war
I lost faith in myself again

I lost faith in myself again...
