

Eloise in the Devil's Claws

November 2nd

There's a rumor devil's walking 'round this town
Looking for souls to sign away with their blood
My Grandma used to tell me to watch out
For the fine clad man with the sparkling smile
And she says there's no way to recognize
The devil hiding behind those handsome eyes
You won't find out until it's too late, baby
You won't find out until it's too late

Eloise is in the devil's claws
She gave him all he asked
He got all he wanted
When the devil speaks in a soft sweet voice
You don't even know you sold your soul

Eloise met this awesome cool rich guy
Who says he can see her talents with his expert eyes
Butv his smile is crooked from the bottom of his heart
Though I surely doubt the devil's got a heart at all
His words sweet as honey darken heer mind
Andin a minute she decides
To believe that all he says is right
That she's willing to give him all she's got
