

Winter's Gone

November 2nd

Spring came too fast this year
What a nice, sweet change for me
Everything's in bloom
But flowers, they will fade too soon
Peace in my soul it's bringing
And happiness, so free
But there's always something crawling
From the back of the mind

I will grow again until I fall

Winter's gone, nights are warm
Storm will come and storms will go
There's something heavy in the air
That keeps me aware
Winter's gone, night are warm
Storms will come and storms will go
Hanged man scarinnng me in my dreams
I fear

Last Friday, they found a boy
Hanged on a lime on the edge of the town so young to die (he was)
And I wonder that was the last thing on his mind
What was the last thing that he saw
Was it a sunset or break of dawn?

I will grow again until I fall

Winter's gone, nights are warm
Storm will come and storms will go
There's something heavy in the air
That keeps me aware
Winter's gone, night are warm
Storms will come and storms will go
Hanged man scarinnng me in my dreams
I fear

Winters gone, nights arec warms
But all the world is laughing at your misery
Winter's gone, nights are warm
But all the world is laughing at your face
