

REM

nothing,nowhere.

I'm so sick of feeling used
I wish I could dream of something new
Cause right now all I dream about is you
Every time I'm laying in my bed
You're the only thing inside my head
I think I'd rather stay awake instead

Tell me that I'm okay, tell me that it's okay
I've been staying up
Cause when I sleep I dream of your face
This will never work out
No we're not the same now
But every night I lay in bed
You're always on my brain now
Lane switching in the whip slow
Give a fuck about a peso
No, you never see my face tho
Yeah, you know I try to lay low
So I keep it in the background
We don't need to get it done now
Been a minute since you been around
Only see you when I sleep now
And I'm so sorry
That we had to fall apart
Now you're in my head every night
And I just wanna shut my eyes

I'm so sick of feeling used
I wish I could dream of something new
Cause right now all I dream about is you
Every time I'm laying in my bed
You're the only thing inside my head
I think I'd rather stay awake instead

Baby tell me what you want
I'm everything you really need
You said that you will never call
You make it hard for me to breathe
What's your name?
Is you honest?
You're ashamed, of the things that I do for the fame
Couple things I regret, I could change
I was honest, kept my promise
Never lost it, could've tossed it
All the times you declined when I'm calling
You don't talk about the things on your conscious

I'm so sick of feeling used
I wish I could dream of something new
Cause right now all I dream about is you

I'm so sick of feeling used
I wish I could dream of something new
Cause right now all I dream about is you
Every time I'm laying in my bed
You're the only thing inside my head
I think I'd rather stay awake instead