

Heartbeats

Number One Gun

Today you woke with a smile on your face
And next, you're unhappy with, without a trace
But keep your lonely words in your mouth, the falling out
Oh, I know it hurts and they're loud
But I'll catch them now

Connecting yourself with me
You lay down your worry
Remember I made you proud
And that's why your heart beats now

A couple times is too much, you run back and forth
When I'm running to you
With open arms I stand promising all of me
You can have all of me, yeah

Connecting yourself with me
And lay down your worry
Remember I made you proud
And that's why your heart beats now

Now, cause it beats now, now, now, now
Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh

Connecting yourself with me
And lay down your worry
Remember I made you proud
And that's why your heart beats now

Connecting yourself with me
And lay down your worry
Remember I made you proud
And that's why your heart beats now

And that's why your heart beats now
And that's why your heart beats now
