

Complex

Nxdia

It starts when we are young
We know what we'll become
But let's face it
I took it way too far
Started changing different
Parts of me, I regret it

She says I've got a complex
But she's speaking out of context
I'm just living for the moment
Crossed my heart before she stole it
Yeah, she says I've got a complex
But I'm really not that complex
I'm just living for the moment
Crossed my heart like she owns it

I'm getting way too tall
To fit into those boxes
That you're tryna keep tickin', yeah
Oh, it seems too much to be asking
It seems too hard of a task
Just to leave me alone
I'm not made out of stone, no

She says I've got a complex
But she's speaking out of context
I'm just living for the moment
Crossed my heart before she stole it
Yeah, she says I've got a complex
But I'm really not that complex
I'm just living for the moment
Crossed my heart like she owns it

She says I've got a complex
But she's speaking out of context
I'm just living for the moment
Crossed my heart before she stole it
Yeah, she says I've got a complex
But I'm really not that complex
I'm just living for the moment
Crossed my heart like she owns it