Idler's Dream

My heart it skips a beat when i behold The light that's shining through your eyes of gold From heavenly blood you seem to spring From heavenly waters you can drink I'll meet you on a day that never ends I'll greet you in a way that heaven meant You lay me down gently on the leaves You cover me over in my sleep

I never did say that i wish i could I never could pray cos it's just no good I hope you don't break my heart of stone I don't wanna scream out loud And wake up on my own

And as i close my eyes And the sky turns red I realise just what you are You're an idlers dream And you're singing shangri la Shangri la Shangri la
