

Alluring the cosmos, entangled in grief
Reforming in turmoil, we raise and conceive

A rebirth in heresy, a dissolving memory
A sudden afterglow, a final epitaph
This is an elegy, a requiem of worlds
This is our legacy, where everything emerged

When we will leave, we lose everything
And unburden our past
In disbelieve, we shall wander
We shall wander in stardust

Sustaining in arons, consternated in bliss
Embittered we are fading in hideous abyss
We mourn the ascended in an orbital sphere
Prolonging our heaven, in reverie I bear

Perpetual misery, in agony we shall fall

As last farewell, we will fade
And disappear and fall apart
As last relieve, we shall forget
We perceive and emerge in vain

And unburden our past
We shall wander in stardust

A moral atrocity, in ecstasy we shall fall

In shattered conscience, we surrender in fear
A savour has vanished, salvation refused
We evaded pure verity, a perception so clear
Sustaining eternal, our universe resumed

A rebirth in heresy, a dissolving memory
A sudden afterglow, a final epitaph
This is an elegy, a requiem of worlds
This is our legacy, where everything emerged

When we will leave, we lose everything
And unburden our past
In disbelieve, we shall wander
We shall wander in stardust

As last farewell, we will fade
And disappear and fall apart
As last relieve, we shall forget
We perceive and emerge in vain

When we will leave, we lose everything
And unburden our past
We shall wander in stardust
We shall wander in stardust