

The Sun Eater

Obscura

I rot beneath, filthy soil
And befoul the holy ground
I know there is no return
Flesh mouldered before my eyes

There is no mercy, putrefying all the way
I have to confess, I savour my own decay
No will to be, impending death inside of me
That's when I feel, I lost my soul and faith to live

I raise eternal, in a starless night I fade
I leave immortal, in an astral shape I ascend to rest

When I reached my wretched demise
While the stench of blood turns foul
When souls and spirits unite
I resign and saturate the stars

In sacred dignity, I dwell in cosmic gloom
In embracing ecstasy, I overcome despair

I raise eternal, in fathomless night I fade
I leave immortal, I ascend to rest

I stray above, wandering soul
And illumine the cosmic sea
I know there is no return
Stars enlightened before my eyes

There is no mercy, putrefying all the way
I have to confess, I savour my own decay
No will to be, impending death inside of me
That's when I feel, I lost my soul and faith to live

I raise eternal, in a starless night I fade
I leave immortal, in an astral shape I ascend to rest

When I reached my wretched demise
While the stench of blood turns foul
When souls and spirits unite
I resign and saturate the stars