

Left of the Dealer

Ocean Alley

You watched the sun come over the hill
Wind's blowing east, and it feels like it's autumn
The mornings are cold, it must be the season
Weather is better, it's better than ever
And oh to be young, got the cleanest air in your lungs
Drinking and the drugs, it's a serious rush

And ooh life ain't always on time
It's alright, I ain't either
Life ain't always a grind
It's alright for a dreamer
Maybe you're next in line
And that's why you're left of the dealer
That's why you're left of the dealer
Alright

It's hard to feel blue in all of the green
And all of the trees
The lemons are yellow
Living the dream ain't what it seems
Got trouble with sleep when you don't go to bed stoned
And ooh to be young, getting drunk and falling in love
And thinking is a must
But if the waves are fun, that's enough

And ooh life ain't always on time
It's alright, I ain't either
Life ain't always a grind
It's alright for a dreamer
Maybe you're next in line
That's why you're left of the dealer
That's why you're left of the dealer
