

So when you gonna tell me what you're running from?
Cause I've got reasons to believe that I'm not the only one tha t's been doing it wrong

You took a match to the kerosine
Thought you could torch it all and leave
But this time judgment's here
So let it begin

You really want it all to disappear
But now you're in the firing line and it's too late for us and the tears

Now we've gone to hell what have you done wrong?
If you're tryin' to please the beast, then you're not the only one who's been doing it wrong

You took a match to the kerosine
Thought you could torch it all and leave
But this time judgment's here
So let it begin

You really want it all to disappear
But now you're in the firing line and it's too late for us

You really want it all to disappear
But now you're in the firing line and it's too late for us and
the tears

You really want it all to disappear
But now you're in the firing line and it's too late for us

You really want it all to disappear
But now you're in the firing line and it's too late for us