

Sewn Shut

Ocean Sleeper

Just let me go
I'm going alone
Just let me go
Its all the same

Seems like I've walked these steps a thousand times before
And still I'm no where not a single day wiser
This world speeds past while I go no where

These days all I know is my fears are holding my head together
I've watched days fly by like I've been standing here forever

How could you be so blind to see I needed you
More then worlds could ever speak what could I ever do

I've been trapped in this mind for so long (so long)
Still waiting for something worth holding on
Screaming out to the word I'm not giving up
I'm done speaking with my mouth sewn shut

So far from home
So far from my fucking self
I won't be another soulless body
In this hollow shell

Will I ever find hope
Will I ever find closure in my self
Its tearing me apart
Its tearing me apart

And I've been trapped in this mind so long
Still waiting for something worth holding on
Screaming out to the world I'm not giving up
I'm done speaking with my mouth sowed shut
And I see straight through
The only path I've ever followed led straight to you
Screaming out to the world I'm not giving up
I'm done speaking with my mouth sewn shut

So far from home
So far from my fucking self
I won't be another waisted shadow
Screaming out for hell

I'm done with this
And I'm done with you
I'll find my way out
With or with out you