

Sleep Life Away

Ocean Sleeper

(No chance to chase these moments)
(No chance to seize the day)
(I'd rather lay here dreaming)
(I'd rather sleep life away)
(Forget the world around me)
(Forget the sound, the taste)
(I'd rather live life dreaming)
(I'd rather sleep life away)

Just let me fall
If I could start again
Give back what I had taken
This feeling's sinking in
And we just lose it all
So cold I'm fading
These feelings hurt I'm breaking
This time regret might take me
And we just lose it all

I've never felt emptiness like this
I found bliss in my abandonment
Sinking inside myself again
Weaker than I have ever been
So let the sunlight fade away
You'll see the grey that remains of me

No chance to chase these moments
No chance to seize the day
I'd rather lay here dreaming
I'd rather sleep life away
Forget the world around me
Forget the sound, the taste
I'd rather live life dreaming
I'd rather sleep life away

If we never take the chance
Then it's already over
If we never take the chance
Then it's already over

Just let me fall
There's nothing for me
I am the lost, I am the damned
Forever falling
The Winter's gone but this cold stays in me

No chance to chase these moments
No chance to seize the day
I'd rather lay here dreaming
I'd rather sleep life away
No chance to chase these moments
No chance to seize the day
I'd rather lay here dreaming
I'd rather sleep life away
Forget the world around me
Forget the sound, the taste
I'd rather live life dreaming

I'd rather sleep life away
