

Total Failure Apparatus

Oceans Of Slumber

I know this road is dark
I know this road is treacherous
And I know this road is long
But it's the only road I know

I can stare at myself forever
And wonder where it all went wrong
Suddenly it all descends
Sinking me further in

Shadows cast along the road ahead
Fighting the prism of what is left
Because...

I know this road is dark
I know this road is treacherous
And I know this road is long
But it's the only road I know

So now where do I go?
Where do we go?

And where did it all go wrong?
It was never the time

Broken mechanism that guides me
To troubled waters

This machine that only wishes to fail
I am not alone

I've come to sever all amends
Along this lonely road I go

The night fades to the glory of the morning
But I'm no better than I was before
The light fights the dark from seeping further in

I know this road is dark
But it's the only road I know

Darkness (Darkness)
Engulfs (Engulfs)
All of (All of)

The night fades to the glory of the morning
But I'm no better than I was before
The light fights the dark from seeping further in
But it's not enough, it's not enough
