

Walking

October Fall

She checks her watch, it's just past four
She's walking into the liquor store
She's inside out and quick to dream
With empty pockets she can barely breathe
And she waits...

Doesn't matter what they say
Just keep on walking by
You can open up their eyes
You'll get what's yours in time so
Just keep on wishing on the stars
Outside your window
I know my voice will guide you home

And the only change that comes her way are the nickels she finds at the entrance way
Will someone please clean up this mess
Her spilled milk life has stained her dress
She's on the floor
Someone get help
She lost control
Then she lost herself

Doesn't matter what they say
Just keep on walking by
You can open up their eyes
You'll get what's yours in time so
Just keep on wishing on the stars
Outside your window
I know my voice will guide you home
I know my voice will...

And she waits..
Doesn't matter what they say
Just keep on walking by
You can open up their eyes
You'll get what's yours in time so
Just keep on wishing on the stars outside your window
I know my voice will guide you home
I know my voice will guide you...
