

Thunder

Odessa

In rolled the thunder
In came the lightning
It shook the marrow
In my bones
I heard it coming
I saw a fire
I felt it burn
In my soul

And I knew that change was coming
But I could not stop myself from wanting you
So I stood and I let that old door open
I let myself fall into your arms again

There was no winter
There was no summer
No rhyme or reason
To our life
But you made it easy
I let you deceive me
Now my virgin body
Is yours to keep

It's been 8 years now
A thousand tears, I vowed
That I would make this
Our last goodbye

And I knew that change was coming
But I could not stop myself from wanting you
So I stood and I let that old door open
I let myself fall into your arms again

In rolled the thunder
In came the lightning
It shook the marrow
In my bones
I heard it coming
I saw a fire
I felt it burn
In my soul

And I knew that change was coming
But I could not stop myself from wanting you
So I stood and I let that old door open
I let myself fall into your arms again