

Surrounded

Of Virtue

I'm crying out (the ignorance starts to flow)
I'm feeling down (hatred spews from their mouth)
I'm losing ground (as they start to push and shove)
This can't be home anymore

I feel so lost (confused by their anger)
I feel out of place (surrounded by hate)
I will never turn (on the ones I love)
Family runs deeper than blood

It's like we went back in time
Faces smashed into the dirt
While hearing the words
You don't belong here

Go ahead and tear me down
I know someday the sun will shine so bright on us
That what you say, won't be what you believe

I'm crying out (the ignorance starts to flow)
I'm feeling down (hatred spews from their mouth)
I'm losing ground (as they start to push and shove)
This can't be home anymore

We're being thrown to the wolves
Chewed up and spit back out
I just want to be free from this hatred I see

Go ahead and tear me down
I know someday the sun will shine so bright on us
That what you say won't be what you believe

I just want to be free
From this hatred I see

No matter where we've gone
The ignorance will always show its face
We've come so far but yet
Still have so far to go

Go ahead and tear me down,
I know someday the sun will shine so bright on us
That what you say won't be what you believe
