

My Fair Share

Ogie Alcasid

Lost, lost as a child's first thought
I must have arms to hold me
Lost without loving care
I must have my fair share

Fair, fair is a changing word
But fair is an honored promise
Justice, if you're still there
I will have my fair share

Justice is a lady
Lay me down with justice
In a long white gown
With a breath of love we can share

Share, sleep with me if you dare
Celebrate my fair share

Fair, fair is a changing word
But fair is an honored promise
Justice, if you're still there
I will have my fair share

Justice is a lady
Lay me down with justice
In a long white gown
With a breath of love we can share

Share, sleep with me if you dare
Celebrate my fair share
