Compass

Oh Honey

Draw the map from you to me
Write the stories in-between
There's an awful lot of space from sea to sea
And I haven't seen your face in to many weeks

Lipstick stains and morning breath
Coffee, kisses; lips and neck
I'm bleary eyed, you're sound asleep
It's Tuesday, won't you stay with me

I'll be your compass, I'll guide you
Where you need to go
When you feel lost hold on to me
And I will lead you home

Holding on to morning light
Nights have ended, buy some time
Pretending you don't leave again
Let's just live inside our heads

I'm no good at being alone
Under these skies, long from home
When the world is just too far to see
At the end there's you and me

I'll be your compass, I'll guide you
Where you need to go
When you feel lost hold on to me
And I will lead you home

Listen with your heart
Turn off your head
The hardest parts are words unsaid
When the world is just out of reach
At the end there's you and me

I'll be your compass, I'll guide you
Where you need to go
When you feel lost hold on to me
And I will lead you home

I'll be your compass, I'll guide you
Where you need to go
When you feel lost hold on to me
And I will lead you home

I will lead you home
Yeah I will lead you home
