

Lift A Finger (By The Garden Path)

Oh Sees

Lift a finger by the garden path
Rest a weary spirit and by half
Trip no fe no fe neh down the path
Trip no fe no fe neh, and by half

Climb a ladder, fit the perfect star
Willows weep along the river's edge
Steal a boat and pole it down the stream
Taking only ever what you need

In the creeping shadow by the end of the garden
Find a creature who will teach you life, oh

Step down from the stile across the field
Move a merry step because you can
While away the city and the greed
Till you see those faces drawing near

In the creeping shadow by the end of the garden
Find a creature who will teach you life, oh

Lift a finger by the garden path
Rest a weary spirit and by half
Trip no fe no fe neh down the path
Trip no fe no fe neh, and by half