

Say Something

Oh Wonder

I'm waking up late, the air is so breezy
The temperature change is making it easy
If you think it's okay I'm gonna tell you a secret
It's never the same but, man, you do hear it

'Cause I'm about to say something
I'm about to say something, alright
Yeah, I'm about to say something
I'm about to say something, alright
Yeah, I'm about to say something
I'm about to say something, alright
Yeah I'm about to say something, alright

Nobody knows you like you know yourself
Nobody needs you like you need yourself
Nobody had to hurt like you hurt yourself
Who are you really kidding?
Hey, are you really living?

The older you get the deeper you feel it
Pretend to be brave and cover your feelings
But they lose their place and they let all the fear in
And slowly erase that beautiful dreaming

Forget where you came from and how far you're going
Forget how to play fun the more that you're growing
And if you never give up then all will be well
But you gotta fight for it
You really gotta try for it

'Cause nobody knows you like you know yourself
Nobody needs you like you need yourself
Nobody hurts you like you hurt yourself
Who are you really kidding?
Hey, are you really living?

'Cause I'm about to say something
Hey, are you really living?
( 'Cause I'm about to say something )
( I'm about to say something )
'Cause I'm about to say something
Hey, are you really living?
( 'Cause I'm about to say something )
( I'm about to say something )
'Cause I'm about to say something
Are you really living?

Hey, you
Yeah, you
Hey, you
Hey, are you really living?