OK Go

Light cast so long
Before sound
Before song
Falls on your eyes
And the dance starts again

And in this grand ballroom of nothingness
Your hand so warm with somethingness
We whirl and twirl and music's invented again
In this grand ballroom of nothingness
We soar, we sail to the only song there's ever been

Love
The only song there's ever been's just begun
Love
The only song there's ever been plays again
Love
It's love

How marvelous
Just to be anything
Circling the hall
To divine harmony

And in this grand ballroom of nothingness
Your hand so warm with somethingness
We swirl, unfurl, and music's invented again
In this grand ballroom of nothingness
We soar, we sail to the only song there's ever been

Love
The only song there's ever been's just begun
Love
The only song there's ever been plays again
Love
The only song there's ever been never ends
Love
Love
Love
It's love

And against such staggering odds of anything at all
That lonely poet Chance called the dance and built the hall
And, with such modest hands, drew up plans and gave us all

Love
Love
Love
