On the Devil's Throne

Old Man's Child

I am going to make you suffer suffocate you to death bury you in my torture chamber you shall rest in agony I will devour your soul the sacrifice to my god my revenge is dark and grim and remorse is all but gone I am your god the mortals shall die in presence of evil my demons shall rise and follow my hate slaughter the sheep until nothing remains killing by numbers they all look the same, pain is the only thing I can create like creations of art life is for me to seek out and annihilate annihilation of all