

Waiting

Old Mervs

I've lost my expression I'm tired
Face up to shame or let it by
Everyone's fading
I was just fine by that
Alone and frustrated
I'm tryna hold back

And I'll be waiting
For someone to bring me home
I'll be waiting on you oh oh

Well, give me direction
Come on and hold my hand
It's all an obsession
It's all just a failing plan

And when you go will I forget
What it is, what it was, what I had?

And I'll be waiting
For someone to bring me home
I'll be waiting on you oh oh

So, take time leaving in in the morning
My brake lights won't give you any warning
I'm slowing down, it's probably for the best

And for the first time it don't feel important
I won't try getting any more out of this
I'll probably give it a rest

And I'll be waiting
For someone to bring me home
I'll be waiting on you oh oh
