

Sailor Song

Olive Klug

She was a sailor
Stationed at the Northern Day
Aimlessly inspired, I was making my way up and down
The interstate
I was just along for the ride when we locked eyes
Drowning out the screams of the party behind us
Only two short days before I'm headed out to leave
Couldn't help but lose myself in fantasy

Where you would sail me away with all our troubles off the ground
Find shelter from the storm
The way you're with me now
We'll sing until our hearts sink deep down into the blue
Drunkenly waltzing in some, smoky saloon
And each morning
When we wake up
The horizon will be moved
Through every ocean, every sea
I will be true

So babe sail me away, watch the world as it floats by
Who cares how did we start
Asking every-while
Someday our life on land will be a distant memory
Through every ocean every sea
Stay true to me
