

Break

Olivia Lane

Forget what you've learned, forget what you know
I see all the hurt that you think you can't show
Something is off cause your light's gotten dim
Do you think being strong means holding it in?

Don't you get tired with a heart like a wall?
Even a fighter knows when to fall

So let it crack open wide, let your secrets shine
Lay your burdens on down, lay em right next to mine
Cause the stones that you've stacked tryna keep yourself safe a re too high to climb over so if you're ready for change
Sometimes you gotta break, break, break

Down to the core, down to the bone
Flat on floor when you got no where to go
But up through the mess a little at a time when it feels like a test you know you doing something right

So let it crack open wide, let your secrets shine
Lay your burdens on down, lay em right next to mine
Cause the stones that you've stacked tryna keep yourself safe a re too high to climb over so if you're ready for change
Sometimes you gotta break, break, break

And start with the gravel and stick with the grit
Rebuild you a castle any way you want it

So let it crack open wide, let your secrets shine
Lay your burdens on down, lay em right next to mine
Cause the stones that you've stacked tryna keep yourself safe a re too high to climb over so if you're ready for change
Sometimes you gotta break, break
