

Love Shouldn't Be This Hard

Olly Murs

We close our eyes we're lost inside our minds
Can we face the ghost?
Can I hold you close?
We keep this distance like a mile between us
When will it fall?
This invisible wall

And there's too much rain to hold it
In the middle of a storm up here inside of me
And you know that it's time to show it
Maybe it's the secrets that will set us free
And there's too much here to blow it
Don't wanna walk away, don't wanna watch you leave
We're falling, we're falling, we're falling

We write this silence like a quite riot
We're like stars lost in the dark
Love shouldn't be this hard
We open scars, we end up breaking hearts
But we can't change who we are
Love shouldn't be this hard
Love shouldn't be this hard

Regard your weakness
I've found my reasons
We don't know how to say aloud
Something inside that we've been hiding
Together alone what are we fighting?
Can we learn how to say it loud?

And there's too much rain to hold it
In the middle of a storm up here inside of me
And there's too much here to blow it
Don't wanna walk away, don't wanna watch you leave

We write this silence like a quite riot
We're like stars lost in the dark
Love shouldn't be this hard
We open scars, we end up breaking hearts
But we can't change who we are
Love shouldn't be this hard
Love shouldn't be this hard

I push, you pull
I run, you crawl
And all we do is go around in circles, circles
Let's dry the tears of yours right here
Let's strip ourselves of everything that's hurtful, hurtful
Love, love, love, love
Love, love, love, love
Love, love, love, love

We write this silence like a quite riot
We're like stars lost in the dark
Love shouldn't be this hard
We open scars, we end up breaking hearts
But we can't change who we are

Love shouldn't be this hard
Love shouldn't be this hard
Love shouldn't be this hard
